POST MORTEM JEALOUSY.

A Young Widow Finds a Rival Decorating Her Husband's Grave.

From an Eastern Paper.

Elias Lipsia, a brother of the late Adah Isaac Menken, was a variety show manager in San Francisco. He had a wife, known on the stage as Carrie Wilson, and when he committed suicide last spring she had his remains handsomely buried in Laurel Hill cemetery. A few days ago she went with some flowers to decorate his grave, and was astonished to find that a young woman had placed an elaborate floral cross over the remains of her husband. The widow demanded an explanation, and the other introduced herself as Rose Evans, saying that Lipsia had loved her much more than he did his wife. There was, of course, a violent quarrel, in which each accused the other of driving Lipsia to take his own life. The widow asserted her exclusive right to decorate the grave, and Rose did not dispute it, but withdrew after triumphantly showing a letter in which Lipsia had written to her: "I am not in the best of spirits, my wife arrived this noon from Virginia City, and I have had hell. Now, my darling, don't think less of me on account of her returning, for I swear to you, my darling, that I love only you, and to lose you would break my heart." A few days later it was observed that Rose was keeping a fresh mound, in another part of the cemetery, covered with flowers, and an investigation showed that she had hired a sexton to remove the coffin, leaving an empty grave for the widow to decorate.

Grant, Conkling, and Sherman.

From the London Times.

For years Conkling has been the Republican master of New York, but there are indications that Sherman may desire to contest it, unless some arrangement favorable to himself can be made with the New York Senator. Conkling is a candidate for President, and will get the New York support in any event. But the New York vote will not carry a Republican National Convention in 1880 any more than it did in 1876, and Conkling's nomination, therefore, being another "highly improbable event," the great question is to whom will the New York support go after Conkling. In New York politics Conkling interest and Grant interest are identical. As things now are, Conkling would hand over the State to Grant if he could not get the prize himself; and this is just what the Secretary of the Treasury does not want to happen. Heretofore Conkling has been made master of New York through the powerful agency of the New York Custom House, wherein his henchmen, gathered from all parts of the State, swarmed. Now Sherman rules the New York Custom House, and paralyzes it as a machine to help Conkling or Grant, and Conkling's anxiety is lest it may be used to overthrow him in New York State.

Romantic Tale of a Prince.

From the Boston Traveler.

A romantic tale, how true we cannot say, is told of the late Prince Imperial, which serves to explain the unusual grief betrayed by the royal family at the untimely death of the young Napoleon. The Prince, so goes the story, was passionately in love with the Princess Beatrice, and at a ball one memorable night, in the interval between the dances she said: "I had rather see you on a battle field than in a quadrille." Her wish was law to him, and to the battle field he went to prove his devotion. On parting with the Queen she placed a diamond ring upon his finger, and it may be that he then revealed his heart's secret. When at length the news came that fair scion of a noble house had been slain by the savage assailant, the Princess was overcome with grief and remained long inconsolable, while Victoria's visit to the Empress was marked by the most profound tokens of sorrow. The Prince of Wales said of the murdered Napoleon: "I loved him as a brother." There is much to corroborate the story which, if true, will cast only deeper regard over the memory of one whose life was so full of promise, and, alas, was blighted so soon.

Tattooing Their Legs.

From a New York Paper.

The rage for tattooing their legs, which is said to be the latest mania among some English ladies of the "upper classes," is hardly likely to last long. As soon as its existence becomes popularly known the female pedestrians and the ladies of the opera bouffe are sure to adopt it, and not only to adopt it, but to take their initials, crosses, and other favorite devices that these adornments can be easily distinguished during public performances. Then the tattooing process among those who now indulge in it will receive a check.

The Coldest Town.

Jakutsk, East Siberia, is supposed to be the coldest of towns. From November to February the thermometer ranges from 42 degrees to 63 degrees below zero, and the neighboring river is solid for nine months of the year. Yet it is a place of considerable business.

FAMINE IN CHINA.

Cannibalism Among the Starving Chinese—Men Killing Their Own Children for Food.

From the New York Sun.

Russian merchants recently returned from the interior of China to St. Petersburg have furnished terrible details respecting the famine which has for some time past prevailed throughout certain provinces of the Celestial Empire. They depose to having seen people die in the streets of many towns and villages from sheer starvation, and state not only that anthropophagy is practiced upon the bodies of the dead, but that famished men attack the living, and prey upon them with ferocity. One of them alleges that he was present at the examination of a mendicant who had been arrested for some petty theft, and in whose professional wallet the mangled remains of an infant were discovered. This man confessed to the magistrate that for some time previous to his seizure he had lived exclusively upon the fresh flesh of human beings, as he could not surmount his antipathy to that of dead bodies. Another appalling case which came under the notice of a Russian merchant was that of a young man who had persuaded his father to assist him in murdering and subsequently eating a girl to whom he was betrothed. Men have been executed for killing and eating their own children, and men have slain their fathers in order to appease the pangs of hunger. In some of the northern districts whole villages stand empty, their inhabitants having one and all perished for want of food.

The Mud Cure.

An old campaigner writes as follows: A letter to the Sun of this morning, entitled "Cured by Damp Earth," reminds me of an occurrence which came under my observation during my campaigning days many years ago in old Texas. We were encamped on the north fork of the Rio Concho, when a valuable horse belonging to an officer of our regiment was bitten in the leg by a rattlesnake. There were some of the wild northern Comanches in our camp at the time, and one of the sub chiefs said, through an interpreter, that he could cure the animal. By this time the leg was swollen, and the poor horse limped painfully. The Indian led him down to the creek and knee deep into the soft mud, where he kept him for about two hours; then he led him out and applied a poultice of the mud to the wound, and returned him to his owner perfectly cured. The above is the only radical cure of the kind I ever saw performed on man or beast, during a term of nine years in that land of snakes, tarantulas, scorpions and centipedes.

A Drunken Town.

From the Little Rock Gazette.

Last night the city reporters, the Chief of Police, the city Collector, and Officer Adams went over to Argenta, Arkansas, to investigate the condition of affairs in town. After landing, the party had not proceeded far up the main street when a dark object lying on the ground attracted attention. The lowering of a lantern developed the fact that we had found our first drunken man. After leaving No. 1 no other signs of live or dead drunkenness were met until the party arrived at the depot. There lay Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, and, in fact so many that, as this is not a mathematical article, it would be useless to enumerate them. From the depot we went to Barna's hotel. On the ground, on the platform, in the back yard, everywhere, lay men in drunken sleep. Men not yet drunk jocularly passed among them to the bar and drank of the poison.

A Headless Butterfly Lays Eggs.

A gentleman residing at Aberdeen relates that he picked up a female butterfly of the genus Vanessa, the head of which had been recently plucked off by a bird, and took it home in order to examine its wing scales. On his clipping off a bit of the wing about four hours afterward, the limbs of the insect moved and the butterfly laid an egg. The process continued until the decapitated insect had deposited some twenty-five ova. Next morning, being up betimes, the naturalist touched the depositing of eggs so vigorously that by the time twenty-nine hours and a half had elapsed from the moment of his finding the insect, it had actually given him 78 eggs.

The Fastest Trotters.

From the New York Star.

The authenticated records of the most celebrated American trotters are as follows: Birus, 2:18; Goldsmith Maid, 2:14; Hopeful, 2:14; Lulu, 2:15; Great Eastern, 2:15; to saddle, and 2:18 to harness; American Girl, 2:16; Occident, 2:16; Gloster, 2:17; Dexter, 2:17; Judge Fullerton 2:18; and Nettie, 2:18. Goldsmith Maid is no longer on the turf, and Gloster and American Girl are dead. Edwin Forrest is in his sixth. His return to the trotting turf will be welcomed and watched with great interest by sporting men.

Watch repaired at New York prices. All work warranted for one year. Executed personally by Georgel, the well-known watchmaker of Reno.

THE GATE CITY.

Reno might very aptly be termed the Gate City of Nevada, as Atlanta, Georgia, is of a vast extent of territory in the South. Reno stands where every one entering the Great Basin from the west must pass directly through her limits, as all the country north, as far as the Oregon line, and west to the summit of the Sierras, south to the Comstock, the capital, and the Colorado, and east along the overland and branching out from it, drains directly toward the funnel formed by the canyon of the Truckee, at the outer edge of which stands our beautiful little city.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There was some talk recently of a wagon road being built from the seminary through to the English mill. Such an avenue would be an immense addition to the town. It would run along the brow of the hill and afford a lovely view of Reno and the green meadows east, south and west of it, with the Truckee river shining through the cottonwoods for several miles above and below. No one would have an idea how really handsome Reno is until they get a view of it from some elevation, such as they would have on the drive talked of. A good wide street entirely surrounding the town crossing the river twice would be, very fine and would if once opened never be dispensed with. The city of Denver has such a drive and is becoming every day more famous by reason of this and other beauties.

There is little doubt but that the Conkling-Sprague scandal covers all that the name implies. They have been the laughing stock in Washington for two years. When Mrs. Sprague was Mrs. Chase, and lived in Columbus, Ohio, she indulged in an escapade or two which revealed her true character. The marriage with Sprague excited a great deal of comment, and many predicted a speedy termination of the union. The scandal has illuminated Conkling's overweening vanity and self-conceit so effectively as to remove him from all danger of being struck by Presidential lightning, and in that way has done the country some service.

The Zulu war which was thought not long since to have practically ended has broken out again. Cateway is still unconquered and has a large and well armed force under him. It has proved a most humiliating and expensive war for the British, and will have the effect of changing very much the English policy of colonization.

New York brickmakers got up a corner in bricks by suspending their manufacture along the Hudson last winter and spring, when prices were low and sales dull. Prices have risen in consequence to $6 50 per thousand. Sensible brickmakers. If everyone of them had worked like a slave all the time prices would be below cost and they would make less than by shutting off the surplus supply.

There is something rotten in the state of California. And something rotten in the municipal government of San Francisco, when the bloated carcass of a dead dog can lie on a leading thoroughfare like California street for three days, after the authorities have been repeatedly notified of its presence there.

It is remarked that the air of Bodie is so stimulating that many people who came to the camp on wheels prefer to walk when they go away.

Married to a White Woman.

From the Sacramento Bee.
 By yesterday's immigrant train from the East there arrived a Chinaman, en route to San Francisco, from Cincinnati, who had with him a comely looking white woman 23 or 24 years of age, so whom he has been married for five years. The husband seemed very proud of his wife and paid great attention to her every want. He was attired in American garb, had his one out of two and spoke excellent English. As the two walked up and down the platform arm in arm, they attracted much attention.

PACIFIC COAST ITEMS.

Paradise is to have a new hotel to cost $20,000.
 Romero, the Mexican saber slasher, in jail at Phoenix, Arizona, made his third attempt to escape on the 21st and was shot dead.

Mrs. Eliza M. Scott, nee Mrs. Woodman, a native of Massachusetts, aged fifty years, drowned herself in the slough at Stockton on the 21st. She has been in the Insane Asylum.

A blast of 11 1/2 tons of Judson powder was exploded in the Bird's Eye mine at You Bet, Nevada county, Wednesday evening about 5 o'clock. The entire population of the place assembled en masse an hour before the explosion to witness the grand blow out.

The coroner's jury in the case of William Brewster, who died from poison at Wallula, Washington Territory, on the 18th, returned a verdict of "poisoned by parties unknown." A portion of the evidence was damaging to the wife of the deceased.

Charles Harmon, of Salt Lake, Utah, aged sixty-five, was prevented from going through the Endowment House on the 21st inst., with an English girl aged eighteen, by the girl's grandfather, an Apostate Mormon. The Endowment House is kept busy Thursday solemnizing polygamous marriages.

LYNCHING IN ARIZONA.

A Mob at Phoenix Hangs Two Men To A Cottonwood Tree.

PHOENIX, August 22.—Last night, about midnight, John Lebar, a well known saloon keeper, closed his place of business, and before going home he went to a saloon across the street and treated the crowd. One man, named McClosky, not being invited, picked up a quarrel and left the saloon. Returning shortly, he entered the saloon, ran up to Lebar and first hit him, and then cut him in the bowels with a large butcher knife. He was taken home and is now lying at the point of death. The doctor says he cannot possibly live. This morning he regained consciousness sufficiently to identify his assailant. This morning all the saloons, stores and other places of business were invited to close, and at about ten o'clock a Law and Order Committee made its appearance and quietly marched to the jail, where they demanded an entrance. The crowd was very large. The outer door was unlocked, the cell opened, and McClosky taken out. Jno. Keller, the man arrested for killing Monahan a few days since, was also taken.

HANGED TO A COTTONWOOD TREE.

Ropes were tied around their necks and they were then led down Main street to the Plaza, and there hanged to the limb of a cottonwood tree. Keller said it was an old grudge. McClosky said he was drunk. After the hanging the Captain of the Committee said the law was too slow and justice demanded the act. He spoke of a number of lawless characters in town, and requested their early departure or it would prove unhealthy for them. He also gave advice to a well known Mexican who was accused of inciting riot among Mexicans because of the killing of Romeo last night. Saloons are requested to be kept closed the remainder of the day. Everything is quiet and orderly. There is no drunkenness, and no objections are made to the hanging. Everyone quietly dispersed.

NO MORE FIGHTING.

The Charcoal War at Eureka—The Feeling Since the Battle—The Coroner's Inquest.

From the Eureka Leader.
 All excitement in reference to the coal troubles seems to be allayed, and the opinion is generally expressed that naught but peaceful measures will obtain in the future. There is a deep feeling among the Italians in reference to the result of the fight at Fish creek, and it is claimed by them that no overt acts were committed sufficient to justify the killing of the men. The testimony given at the Coroner's inquest has been published in full, and our readers can draw their own conclusions. It was expected that the other side of the story would be heard, but it being found that the inquiry was taking too wide a range, it was brought to an abrupt end. It is probable that an examination of the officers and posse will take place at an early day, at which time the matter will be judicially investigated, and all the facts from both standpoints will be learned.

THE VERDICT.

The jury, after a short consultation, found that the above named men came to their death on the 18th day of August, A. D., 1879, in this county from gunshot wounds, received at the hands of a Sheriff's posse of Eureka county, Nevada, while said posse was in discharge of its duty.

BORN.

MEHLE, In Carson City, August 20th, 1920, to the wife of the late Henry H. Mehle, a daughter.

METEOLOGICAL.

The thermometer at Osburn & Shoemaker's drug store to-day stood as follows:
7 A. M., 59; 9 A. M., 72; 11 A. M., 82; 1 P. M., 80.

JOTTINGS.

—Young Norcross who was shot at Lake Tahoe the other day is doing well.
—Dr. Hogan went to Buffalo Meadows, 100 miles north of Reno to see a sick lady.
—Four-year-old has a cold and does not bear well. She says her ears are in the dark.
—The drug stores will hereafter be closed on Sunday from 1 to 6 P. M., and open from 9 to 5.
—Boca's clever mule is dead at the ripe age of sixteen years. He was forced on the track against his will and was killed by a passing train.

EXPLANATION.

Editor Gazette:—With your permission, I will occupy a small space in the columns of your paper for the purpose of giving to Mr. Coffin, and to the tax payers of Washoe county, the reasons why a warrant was not issued on the complaint of Mr. Coffin, charging one — with having entered the paint shop of Holt & Coffin, and stealing therefrom some brushes and other small tools, of the value, (according to Mr. Coffin's estimate) of about twelve dollars.

1st. Mr. Coffin stated that the party accused had been for some time employed by Holt & Coffin in the capacity of a painter, and that, although he was not in their employ at the time of the alleged larceny, that he had access to their shop, and a key to the door.

2d. Mr. Coffin said he had for several days prior to the day on which he applied for the warrant, known who the guilty party was, and that he had been endeavoring to induce said party to return the stolen property, and that if he had succeeded in recovering the property in that way, he would have made the complaint.

3d. Mr. Coffin stated that he had recovered a portion of the articles taken, and that if the party charged would return the balance, that he had no desire to prosecute him, for the reason that the accused had been on a spree, and probably took the goods while intoxicated, some of which he had found pawned for drinks.

4th. Mr. Coffin also stated that he thought if the party was arrested that he would give up the balance of the missing articles, and that if he did so, he would be willing to have the prosecution dismissed, as he had no desire to have the offender punished, but only wished to recover his goods.

These, with other statements made by Mr. Coffin, convinced me that he misunderstood, and wholly misapprehended the object and intent of the criminal laws of this State, for, according to his own declarations, the only object he had in commencing the prosecution was recovery of the balance of the stolen property, and therefore I advised him to go to the party accused and tell him, that unless he returned the goods, he would be arrested, at the same time informing Mr. Coffin that in case he didn't get his goods in that way, and still desired a warrant, I would advise the Justice to issue a warrant.

I gave this advice for two reasons: 1st. I thought probably the property would be recovered in that way, which according to Mr. Coffin's own declarations was all he desired.

2d. I believed from the statement of Mr. Coffin that if the party was arrested, and demanded a jury trial, that a conviction would be extremely doubtful, and that the county would probably have to pay $25 or $30 costs, and that the goods would not be recovered, and the party, even if guilty, would go unpunished.

The next I heard of the matter was an article in the GAZETTE of the 18th, signed Tax Payor.

Now I only desire to say in conclusion, that while I shall hold myself in readiness at all times during my term of office to prosecute all offenders, I shall not advise any Justice of the Peace of this county to issue a warrant for the arrest of any person accused of crime, when after hearing the facts stated by the complaining witness, and considering all the circumstances connected with the matter, I do not believe a conviction can be secured, for I deem it as well my duty to guard the Treasury against reckless expenditures of its moneys in the prosecution of doubtful cases, as to prosecute with vigilance those who may willfully and feloniously violate the law.

Dist. Atty Washoe Co.
I hereby certify that the above statement of the facts as presented by Mr. Coffin to the District Attorney and myself is correct.

WM. H. YOUNG,
Justice Peace, Reno Township.

MISPLACED SYMPATHY.

The investigation of the Labor Depression Committee last night—Un-called for Sympathy With the Heathen Mongolian.

As a well-known citizen was taking his way homeward along Virginia street about 2 o'clock last night, he observed a number of Chinamen at work in one of the wash houses that adorn that thoroughfare. His sympathies were aroused at the sight of the poor Celestials toiling so far into the night. So he leaned his weight gently against the door which yielded to his persuasive bulk and he appeared in the midst of the astonished Mongolians.

"What are you work so late for, old yellow boy?" he said to a tall, lank Chinaman whose prominent cheek bones made him a conspicuous object. "You get out—heap quick!" the disturbed Mongolian answered, as he threatened the intruder with the flat iron.

The belated citizen, whose sympathetic nature had led him to act as a Labor Depression Committee, felt the milk of human kindness turn to gall in his breast as he heard those harsh words from the lips of the heathen, and he immediately knocked the washerman down. Upon this, another heathen threw a stool at the intruder, who retreated to the street to establish a scientific frontier. The Chinamen began to swarm out of the holes and corners of the edifice, until some thirteen rogues in cotton had gathered in a solid phalanx on the wash house floor. Our hero surveyed the situation calmly and decided upon his line of action. The fly door of the establishment, covered with netting, had closed. Seizing the stool which had accompanied him into outer darkness, he threw it with deliberate aim through the netting, right into the midst of the phalanx. He then pursued his way homeward, reciting with great feeling: "Man's humanity to man makes countless thousands mourn!"

A Reply.

In answer to an article reflecting on my conduct toward the Woman's Temperance Union, I feel something like the Yankee who said he "always liked to be kicked at nothin'." A plain truthful statement of the whole affair may set me right in the eyes of my friends, and I care not for the opinions of the fabricators of such falsehoods as are contained in the card referred to. In the first place the ladies engaged the use of Kimball's hall for a certain night for the purpose of giving a concert. They used it one night that week for rehearsal. Then when the proposed night for the concert arrived it was postponed. The following week they rehearsed one or two nights in the hall and then had their concert. Making in all, four or five nights use of the hall, for which I charged them $22 and a quarter, including gas bill, and saying nothing about four benches they broke. My regular price for the use of the hall being twenty-five dollars per night. The day after the concert I made out my bill and not knowing to whom it should be presented I asked Mr. Frank Cook, who gave me the names of Mrs. Ashcraft, Treasurer, and Mrs. Jaques, Secretary. These names I noted on the back of the bill in pencil as a memorandum and that afternoon at 8 o'clock I called on Mrs. Ashcraft and handed her the bill, which she paid without a word. This was the last I heard of it till last Wednesday, when I was waited on by Mrs. Ashcraft, Mrs. Jaques and another lady, who asked me who signed those names to the bill. I explained how the names occurred and they said no more, nor did I hear anything more about it until I saw the card in the paper. By this statement, every word of which I can prove, it will appear that there is not any truth in the statement made in the aforesaid card inasmuch as, I did not call for my money next morning. Did not demand immediate payment. The bill was not endorsed by anybody and as for the accusation of forgery, that is too preposterous to deserve a denial, for if I am guilty of that, I hold myself amenable to a higher tribunal than the Women's Temperance Union.

As for the other charge of treating them in a mean, ungentlemanly manner, I regret that such an accusation should be brought against me, but were it not for the presence of such reproaches as I, the occupation of the Great Woman's Union would be gone. J. W. SCOTT.

THE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

The Specifications Drawn and Received From Sacramento—Some Description of the Building.

The plans and specifications for the new school house came up from Sacramento yesterday morning. The trustees have advertised for proposals for the erection of the building, and will have the work commenced at the earliest possible day, in order to get the building as near completion as possible before cold weather comes.

The plan selected by the trustees was drawn by A. A. Cook, a Sacramento architect. It represents a handsome, well proportioned building of considerable architectural pretensions. The edifice is to be built of brick. It will be of two stories, with a mansard roof, surmounted by a tower. Nothing but the best material will be used in its construction. The foundation walls will be laid two feet deep with solid masonry. The exterior wooden finish of the building is to be done in redwood, and the interior is to be finished in sugar pine. The school house will be furnished throughout with gas and water. The building will be 68.4 feet square in the clear, and 90.8 in height to the top of the tower.

There will be eight class rooms, each 28x32 feet and 16 feet high. The halls will be 18 feet wide.

Church Notices.

There will be divine service at the Methodist Episcopal Church to-morrow at 11 A. M. and 7:45 P. M., Rev. C. McKelvey officiating. Seats free. All are invited. Sabbath school at 1:30 P. M.

There will be divine service at Trinity Episcopal Church to-morrow at 11 A. M. and 7:45 P. M., Rev. W. R. Jenvey officiating.

Let no one forget the picnic on Tuesday next. Good music; fine dancing; plenty of fun. Fare for the round trip, $1.50. A conveyance will be at the train to take all baggage to the mansion.

WHY STAY POOR?
Prospecting often pays. Idleness never.
The millions of the Comstock were a lucky find. Worthless looking rock is often rich in treasure. At Louisville a simple assay made millions of many. Other bonanzas were least suspected until the coming of some unknown man. Who is he?
At Virginia City, Nevada, assays for Gold and Silver are made at $1.00 per sample, by CONRAD WIEGAND, formerly the Supervising Assayer of the U. S. Mint at San Francisco.
The mail will carry ore samples to his office for one cent per ounce.
Reports which may be relied on absolutely, come back by return mail, or results are telegraphed when ordered so.
All costs, delays and risks in remitting money are avoided by the purchase of our Dollar Remittance Tickets, which pay for all work done in our establishment.
We sell three paid tickets at a discount, when $3 worth or more are ordered at one time.
Small sacks for mailing ore samples also sale at a nominal price.
